

BKCM's Fall Music Teletherapy Sessions

Our credentialed therapists offer a personalized approach to ONE-ON-ONE MUSIC TELETHERAPY for individuals of all ages with a wide range of developmental and other disabilities as well as children and adults coping with anxiety and learning differences.

In this virtual world, active and positive remote social experiences are crucial for social and emotional health, and continued community engagement. Our music teletherapy sessions provide an opportunity to maintain developmental progress and continuity through positive musical relationships. BKCM's roster of veteran therapists collaborate with parents, teachers and caregivers on how to use music in daily life for formative growth and play.

With all one-on-one sessions, we're excited to offer free access to our popular Social Sound Bytes—virtual, musical social groups that provide opportunities for musical connection and collaboration with peers. Groups are led by music therapists and focus on sharing music together, musical skill building, cooperation and fun.

A HOLISTIC APPROACH—BKCM MUSIC THERAPY SESSIONS INCLUDE:

- Quarterly music therapy progress reports
- Bi-weekly newsletters with resources and tips from our therapists
- Instrument and material support
- Monthly Zoom family singalong parties
- A built-in supportive community of therapists, families and caretakers
- Access to free Social Sound Bytes for all one-on-one clients
- Parent support and connection
- Guidance during the registration process and assistance in navigating financial aid and self-directed care

In nearly 20 years, BKCM has built an acclaimed music therapy program that now encompasses 40 partners citywide, and reaches 1,600 individuals across four boroughs, and beyond.
